Postal inspectors are visiting newspaper offices in the country and examining the books to ascertain if publishers are complying with the law which requires all subscriptions to be kept paid up. On papers in arrears the law requires that postage be prepared, that is one cent on each paper, and not at pound rates. What are subscribers who are in arrears for one or more years willing to do? Will they relieve the publisher who has continued to trust them by sending the paper, or will they compel him to pay the one cent on their paper or discontinue it? To a fair man the question admits only one answer. Newspaper man did not make this law, they protested against it but without avail, but they must abide by it. Every man knows whether his subscription is paid or whether he is behind. It is not pleasant for an editor to keep denouncing his subscribers, and why should he? Why should they not extend the same recognition to their debt to him that they do to debts to others, and pay?

The article on farm telephones printed elsewhere confirms what we heretofore adverted to, the present tendency of city people to secure homes in the country. With the automobile and quick transportation and the telephone the man living on the farm or anywhere in the country may keep in close touch with town. There is no good reason why this section should not be dotted with homes of city people. But there must be some effort on the part of residents to bring the advantages of locating here, home to them. A board of trade or some organization of a kindred nature might aid materially in this direction. Will our people make any effort along this line? Nothing can be won without some sacrifice on the part of those interested in bringing such results. Home one must work if anything is accomplished.

TRESPASS NOTICE.

All persons are warned from trespassing on the private property of the undersigned for the purpose of hunting, fishing or any other purpose under penalty of the Act of Assembly approved April 14th, 1906. Attention is especially called to the law making the open season for bullfrogs from July 1st to November 1st.

Number Three
A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by law, shall be in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the courts of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any court where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court to which any suit shall be assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all suits filed at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said courts may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.
